Policy Statement and Scope

At Willow Dene School, we are committed to promoting positive mental health and emotional wellbeing to all children, their families and members of staff and governors. Our open culture allows children's' voices to be heard, and through the use of effective policies and procedures we ensure a safe and supportive environment for all affected directly and indirectly by mental health.

This policy is a guide to all staff including non-teaching and governors which outlines Willow Dene's approach to promoting mental health and emotional wellbeing and sets out the systems and processes in place to support all members of Willow Dene's school community.

It should be read in conjunction with other relevant school policies.

Policy Aims

- Promote positive mental health and emotional wellbeing in all staff and children.
- Increase understanding and awareness of common mental health difficulties.
- Enable staff to identify and respond to early warning signs of mental ill health in children and colleagues.
- Enable staff to understand how and when to access support when working with children with mental health difficulties and who to refer on to within school, to ensure the right support is in place.
- Provide the right support to children with mental health difficulties, and know where to signpost them and their families for specific support.
- Raise awareness amongst staff and ensure all leaders have a clear oversight of mental health and wellbeing difficulties within the workforce at Willow Dene. Leaders ensure that staff are supported in relation to looking after their wellbeing; instilling a culture of staff and child welfare where everyone is aware of signs and symptoms with effective signposting underpinned by behaviour and welfare around school.
- Outline and signpost internal and external support pathways available for staff, children, and families.

Key Staff Members and Signposting

The mental health and emotional wellbeing of our school community is extremely important to us at Willow Dene. Working within a special school can bring its own specific challenges which can involve high stress situations, physical and emotional demands as well as bereavement. The pandemic has also had a significant impact on staff and families. As such, we strive to ensure that children, staff and families have key people within school who can support them both at times of crisis and through ongoing support and signposting. This can be seen in strategic planning and our leadership structure.

There are currently 7 trained mental health first aiders across the school and positioned across both school sites, to support both children and staff. Our Mental Health First Aiders hold a range of roles within the school, including the leadership team, support staff and specialist teams. To access this support, either during the school day or outside of working hours, staff members can self-refer informally or follow formal processes during wellbeing check's, return to work meetings or general conversations with their line manager.

There is a Deputy Head role with specific responsibility for the behaviour and wellbeing needs of our children at Willow Dene, this role includes strategic oversight of behaviour, mental health, and wellbeing, ensuring appropriate signposting, referral and internal support mechanisms are in place to support these children.

There is also a dedicated Pastoral Lead within the Leadership structure, which ensures that the mental health and wellbeing of staff is promoted and kept at the forefront of policy and practice.

See Appendix 1 for named designated members of staff.

The school Wellbeing Committee is made up of key members of staff from across the school. The Wellbeing Committee supports the development of wellbeing policy and practice throughout the school. We also hold an annual well being inset for our staff. Members of the committee are outlined in Appendix 4.

Line Managers

School leaders, in their role as class or team managers play a key role in monitoring and supporting the wellbeing of staff. This happens through daily interactions and more formally through return-to-work meetings and wellbeing check-ins as part of the Professional Development Conversation I process. We also encourage an open-door policy for staff to approach leaders through staff briefings to discuss, give feedback or raise issues as they need to. Through this process, line managers can gain an insight into pressures faced by staff members and signpost support both internally and externally as appropriate.

Mental Health in the Curriculum

Our children are at the heart of the curriculum at Willow Dene, and it is a curriculum that is engaging and ambitious. Mental health and emotional wellbeing is incorporated throughout the curriculum and provision.

Children working within the Early Development Curriculum, develop their responses and early communication skills, understanding of themselves and others around them. Children develop body and environmental awareness and an early understanding of social interaction. They begin to express how they feel consistently and indicate what they like, do not like and their preferences. Staff foster positive relationships and get to know children well, therefore they are able to recognise, respond and support the mental health and emotional wellbeing of children effectively.

For children working within the Concept Curriculum , there are specific units of work within the carefully designed curriculum which cover all aspects of mental health and emotional wellbeing. These are included within strands of Relationship and Health Education in Primary and Relationship, Sex and Health Education in Secondary, Citizenship, Play and Leisure , Learning technologies – online safety and Physical Education. Such units include work on feelings, self-awareness, healthy bodies, and healthy minds, keeping fit and feeling good. Children also continue to develop communication skills through targeted communication sessions.

There is an individualised approach to supporting mental health and wellbeing for children, when appropriate. The curriculum can be used as a vehicle for discussion and support for children through use of resources such as social stories, sensory stories and visual supports.

There are opportunities for all children each day to have time for reflection and to celebrate successes through collective worship.

Mental Health and Emotional Wellbeing for Children

Recognising Mental Health for Children

What does mental health mean?

Mental health is an individual's cognitive, behavioural and emotional wellbeing (Mind, 2020). It's something we all have - including every child and young person.

We use the term "mental health issues" to refer to mental health problems, conditions and mental illnesses. These issues may or may not be medically diagnosed.

Due to the complex nature of our children's needs and the challenges around unpicking these difficulties into what is part of their profile, behavioural and or possible mental health concerns. Any change in a child's presentation at school should always be raised with a line manager or member of SLT so the relevant support can be identified.

Any change in a child's presentation is worth a further discussion with those that know them well to try and problem solve underlying issues which could explain the changes. Children with additional needs often require extra thought with parents, professionals and those most involved with them.

Possible signs that a child may be struggling with their mental wellbeing could be from the following list which not exhaustive.

- Decline in school performance
- Poor attainment despite strong efforts
- Constant worry or anxiety
- Repeated refusal to go to school or to take part in normal activities
- Hyperactivity or fidgeting
- Persistent nightmares
- Persistent disobedience or aggression
- Mood swings
- Frequent temper tantrums
- Depression, sadness, or irritability
- Environmental factors
- Internal/Physical factors

Sources of support at school and in the local community

At Willow Dene we offer an eclectic approach to our children's learning, and it is no different when supporting their mental health needs. We recognise that children need to be in a 'ready state to learn' and that children need to have their emotional, physical, and mental health needs met if they are to flourish and learn. Willow Dene offers the following support systems within school. These links enable fast tracking of issues which may affect mental health and wellbeing. We also RAG rate our children's health and well-being on a termly basis as a prerequisite to learning as part of our learning journey's assessment.

CAMHS in reach clinic – That offers consultations, joined up appointments intervention support and if needed treatment.

Paediatrician appts - Both parents and school staff can request a referral to community paediatrics for a medical concern

In house Epilepsy clinic – Offers appointments and a link between school, home and hospital clinics

Links with Neurology and Orthopaedic Consultants – Offers consultations/discussions with staff parents and provides a link between school, home and hospital clinics

Art/Play and Music Therapy – Art, Play and Music Therapy helps children to explore their feelings, to express themselves and to make sense of their life.

Physical/Fitness/Swim/Sensory input - We have a wealth of specialist support at school to aid our children in developing their physical, fitness and sensory processing needs which can be focussed on individual or class-based support and can be requested via a referral.

Nursing Team - Support in the upkeep and writing of care plans as well as charting medication. They also liaise with other health services to ensure a joined up approach to our children's health needs.

Dietitian - Explores with school and parents children's diet at home and school ensuring they have a well balanced and nutritional and healthy diet. The dietician liaises with our sensory team and tertiary services as well as paediatrics to ensure children's dietary needs are met.

External Sign Posting

There are a number of organisations that nationally support children and young people who are struggling with their mental health or are presenting challenging behaviour because they are not coping. See Appendix 2 for a list of the organisations that offer guidance/support and advise for children with additional needs and mental health challenges.

Confidentiality & Safeguarding for families

We will always deal with any concern around a child or family members mental health and well being with the upmost sensitivity and confidentiality, involving only those it is relevant and appropriate to have involved.

At school we treat any concern relating to a child and their safety as a priority and with seriousness. Any safeguarding concern should always be discussed with a Designated Safeguarding Lead (DSL) so it can be dealt with in line with policy and practice. DSLs will always take parental mental health into consideration in all safeguarding matters.

Training

Induction and continued professional development are important in ensuring our staff are well trained and up to date with the latest strategies, interventions, and research to enable them to support our children

Within school we provide staff with comprehensive and continuous CPLD which meets the needs of the children they work with whether that is medical training or physical intervention training.

We use some of our annual inset and staff meeting time as well as our Professional Development Meeting (PDM) time to ensure staff can keep abreast of relevant research and information and we will also invite outside agencies in to deliver training/workshops. These include services such as CAMHS, Social Care, Short Breaks as well as our therapy teams and health staff, who deliver training on issues such as anxiety, sleep, constipation, communication, and sensory processing.

Policies that support the wellbeing of a child such as our Child Protection policy, Relationship and Behaviour policy, Positive Handling policy and Sensory Processing policy are reviewed on an annual basis and ratified by our governing body. They are also shared with all staff with time for them to read and feedback

Supporting Parents, Carers and Families

Ensuring our parents and families are well supported is critical in meeting our children's needs.

Family support advisors – support with signposting parents/families to services in the community, help with applying for benefits and housing issues. A point of contact for families to come together and share experiences through coffee mornings/workshops, parent groups and training.

Role of the class teacher – First port of call for parents and daily oversight of child. To educate and support a child to share information regarding child's learning/well-being, strengths, and areas of developments with the family and other professionals involved.

Other professionals - A child may have a number of professionals involved with their care at home and school from therapists to hospital consultants, to respite and social care workers. Collaborative working and sharing information is crucial in supporting a child with complex needs. Multi-disciplinary meetings and clinics such as our CAMHS and SCERTS clinic are a good way of ensuring professionals work together.

Mental Health and Emotional Wellbeing for Staff

Recognising Mental Health for Staff

When referring to Mental Health it is important to understand what we mean and use the appropriate terminology:

Mental health condition – refers to a wide range of mental health problems that affect our mood, thinking and behaviour. A mental health condition will have been diagnosed by a mental health professional.

Mental health episode – typically a one-off period that is triggered by events such as work pressures, bereavement, or family problems for example.

Mental health crisis – when someone feels they are no longer able to cope or be in control of their present situation (NHS, 2019). They may feel they are at breaking point and need urgent help and support with their mental health (Mind, 2018). A crisis can occur as part of ongoing mental health conditions and/or due to a stressful life experience such as a bereavement, employment, or money problems.

Mental health and wellbeing is viewed as a continuum, a scale which we can move back and forth freely on, between positive and negative, depending on what is happening in our lives and the impact this has on us. It is helpful to recognise that when struggling with mental health, we are not stuck, and that our mental health can improve.

Everyone is different and as a result, different individuals will experience different emotional, cognitive, and physical symptoms when experiencing a mental health episode. These can include but are not limited to:

- Arriving late for work frequently
- Not eating regularly
- Disinterested in the workplace
- Not meeting deadlines
- Making regular mistakes
- Sensitivity to criticism
- Rapid weight loss
- Acting out of character
- Memory and concentration problems
- Delusions
- Appetite loss
- Fatigue
- Heart palpitations
- Tearfulness
- Excessive worrying
- Feeling guilty all the time
- Excessive anger, hostility or violence
- Having thoughts about ending their life

(The Mental Health Foundation, 2016)

Examples of the signs (something you see) and symptoms (what the person describes) of a mental health crisis:

- Severe emotional distress
- Thinking about taking their own life

- Self-harming
- Hallucinating
- Losing touch with reality
- Hearing voices
- Panic attacks
- Going missing
- Not acting like themselves

Sources or support at school and in the local community

At Willow Dene we are committed to supporting and promoting positive mental health and wellbeing.

We have a number of trained Mental Health First Aiders who are able to support in the following ways:

- Promote awareness of mental health in the workplace
- Use active listening skills and be non-judgmental
- Be a point of contact for employees in need
- Advise on the type of support available
- Spot the signs/symptoms of mental health conditions (note that Mental Health First Aiders do not diagnose a mental health condition)
- Provide early intervention at the initial stages of a mental health problem
- Respond to a mental health crisis
- Maintain confidentiality

Please see Appendix 1 for details of current Mental Health First Aiders.

The role of your line manager is to support you in the workplace and as a result all line managers endeavor to be approachable and responsive to your needs.

Within the local community there are also services available dedicated to supporting the mental health of adults.

Bromley, Lewisham and Greenwich Mind provides a range of social groups and drop-in services to support people with mental health needs in Royal Greenwich.

Oxleas NHS Foundation Trust provide a range of adult community mental health services across Bexley, Bromley and Greenwich boroughs. Please see Appendix 3 for the most up to date contact details.

There is also a wealth of mental health advice and support available online and via the phone. There is tailored support for specific mental health conditions as well as support for experiences which can lead to a mental health episode or crisis. For general support, you can contact:

or visit mind.org.uk

For a list of other services see Appendix 3.

Confidentiality & Safeguarding

If a member of staff speaks to a Mental Health First Aider, all conversations will remain confidential, unless agreed between the individual and the Mental Health First Aider that support from another member of staff within school i.e., a line manager would be beneficial, or if it is deemed that safety of the individual is in immediate danger.

Mental Health First Aiders may record the number of people who have required their assistance, but this will be anonymous data and for the purpose of ensuring we are meeting the needs of the school, for example by providing enough Mental Health First Aiders for the number of staff requiring their assistance. This data would be available to the leadership team and governors.

Training & Wellbeing Offer

Pastoral Lead

The Pastoral lead at Willow Dene will undergo regular training to ensure that knowledge and practice is up to date and relevant to the ever-changing climate of both our school and wider world.

Wellbeing Committee

Willow Dene's wellbeing committee meet on a half termly basis. The committee is formed of members from all school teams to ensure good representation of the school's needs. Actions following the wellbeing committee will be shared with staff on a regular basis. Staff can raise any concerns, questions, or ideas with a member of the wellbeing committee who will feed this back to all members at the next meeting. All shared personal information will be kept confidential. Key actions from these meetings are shared with staff and help to inform strategic development for example focus for core priorities in the SDP For a list of wellbeing committee members, please see Appendix 4.

Wellbeing Resources

Staff can find useful books and information in both staff rooms at Willow Dene Swingate Lane and Willow Dene Oakmere Road. Notice boards in these areas are used to share relevant resources and information, and the books provided can be loaned out using the booking log located with the resources. The library of books is updated regularly.

Inset Days

Willow Dene recognises mental health and wellbeing as a priority and ensures time is dedicated during an inset day each year in support of this. Wellbeing insets are ever evolving considering staff feedback and the needs of the school and are used to promote positive mental health both in work and outside.

We also raise awareness and recognition considering national campaigns including World Mental Health Day and Mental Health Awareness Week, which are celebrated across the school.

Employee Assistance Programme

The Employee Assistance Programme is a confidential 24-hour helpline from Health Assured to support employee's with a range of personal and professional problems that could be affecting home or work life, health and general wellbeing. This includes:

- Stress and anxiety
- Bereavement
- Relationship advice
- Tenancy and housing concerns
- Counselling
- Financial wellbeing
- Legal information
- Alcohol and drug issues
- Family issues
- Childcare support
- Medical information
- Consumer issues

It is also accessible via the 'My Healthy Advantage' app and online portal. More information, including the employer code required to access this service can be found in 'My Health & Wellbeing Centre' on the Compass Portal.
